- Description : The website is an e-commerce platform selling books. Users can view and purchase books based on quantity. Admin users have the authority to view, edit, and delete orders, as well as review the books that users have previously ordered. The website employs JSON Web Token (JWT) mechanism to secure user information. However, the admin page is not yet mobile-responsive and I deploy this project on a free platform, so the startup process may take a bit longer.
